

Scott Perez

Scott Perez, a third-generation horseman, has deep roots in the equestrian world. Growing up, he participated in junior, high school, and professional rodeos, gaining a profound understanding of horses and effective communication. From a young age, his parents instilled in him the values of hard work and responsibility. By 18, Scott began working in the film industry as a horse rider, eventually providing horses for notable Hollywood productions such as Westworld (HBO), Godless, Once Upon a Time in Hollywood and Horizon the American Saga.

Scott's entire family is actively engaged in the horse industry, from his wife's feed store to his sons working in the movie industry. He is dedicated to the community and to serving as the mayor's appointee on the LA Equine Advisory Committee where he stays informed on current equine issues. Scott aims to leverage his extensive experience to address equine concerns and promote the longevity of the equine industry in Los Angeles.
